

ESSENTIALS OF FIRST-LINE LEADERSHIP

Essentials of First-Line Leadership teaches the skills needed to step out of the day-to-day and get work done through others.” This small-class setting (only 8-12 participants) is geared towards current and recently promoted supervisors, “step up” employees preparing for future roles, and team leaders and employees who are curious about the skills needed for supervision.

Success Labs provides a highly individualized experience with the opportunity to gain and share insights with classmates from other companies, industries, and professions. This two-day interactive workshop teaches the foundation skills needed to transition from being the do-er to the leader - through small group activities and discussion, role playing real-work scenarios with professional actors, and creating a mini action plan to put the skills to work.
